KEY RISKS
WHAT ARE THE KEY RISKS OF THIS INVESTMENT? You should consider and satisfy yourself as to the risks of investing in the ILP sub-fund. An investment in the sub-fund is meant to produce returns over the long-term. You should not expect to obtain short-term gains from such investments. There is no assurance that the investment objectives of the sub-fund will actually be achieved. The securities and instruments in which the sub-fund may invest are subject to market fluctuations and other risks inherent in such investments and there can be no assurance that any appreciation in value will occur. The risk factors may cause you to lose some or all your investments. A description of the major risks is provided below.	For further information, please refer to “Risks” of the Fund Summary for ILP.
Market Risks
Market Risk The prices of the securities comprised in the portfolio of the underlying fund and the units, and the income from them, may be influenced by political and economic conditions, changes in interest rates, the earnings of the corporations whose securities are comprised in the underlying fund’s portfolio and the market’s perception of such securities. Risk of Investing in Foreign Securities The investments of the underlying fund may be affected by political instability, exchange controls, changes in taxation, foreign investment policies and other restrictions and controls. The legal infrastructure and accounting, auditing and reporting standards in certain countries may not provide the same degree of investor protection or information to investors as would generally apply in major securities markets. Foreign ownership restrictions in some markets may mean that corporate action entitlements may not always be secured or may be restricted.
Liquidity Risks
Liquidity Risk The sub-fund is not listed on Singapore Exchange and you can redeem only on Business Day through Income Insurance. There is no secondary market for the sub-fund.
Product-Specific Risks

It will be exposed to fluctuations in the Japanese economy, and the market, currency, political, social environment and other risks related specifically to Japan, which may affect the market price of the underlying fund’s investments. Exposure to a single country also increases the potential volatility of the underlying fund as its investments would be less diversified as compared to having exposure to regional or global markets.

Risk Associated with the Investment Strategy of the Underlying Fund The value of the units of the underlying fund depends not only on the exposure to and contribution from the equities portfolio held by the underlying fund but also the efficient use of FDIs. The gains from the equities exposure may be offset from any losses from the forwards positions. Allocation to cash during rising market environment may also lead to a drag in performance. Income Distribution Risk Sources of income for distribution include dividend and/or interest income and/or capital gains derived from the investments of the underlying fund. Such dividend and/or interest income may be adversely affected by events such as (but are not limited to) companies suffering unexpected losses or, having lower than expected dividends and adverse exchange rate fluctuations. Financial Derivative Risk The underlying fund manager may invest in FDIs for the purpose of hedging the underlying fund’s existing portfolio. FDIs involve risks different from, and in some cases, greater than, the risks presented by more traditional investments. Some of the risks associated with FDIs are market risk, management risk, credit risk, liquidity risk, moratorium risk, capital control risk, tax risk and leverage risk. The underlying fund may invest into underlying sub-funds which use or invest in FDIs, and it is possible that the underlying fund’s net asset value may be subject to volatility due to the underlying fund’s usage or investment in FDIs.
